

Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

As we begin a new year, it is prudent to recall the start of our recovery journey. We can use this time to get rooted in the Twelve Steps, prompting an enriched relationship with Christ and devotion to the sacraments. We begin with Step One: We admitted we were powerless over addictions, compulsions, and unhealthy attachments—that our lives had become unmanageable.

The book How Al-Anon Works, which includes wisdom translatable for families impacted by all addictions, makes it clear how we are to build a foundation: "As we look back on our lives, we are asked to acknowledge our powerlessness over alcohol, the alcoholic and every person and event we sought to control by our own will power. By letting go of the illusion of control over other people, their actions and their addiction to alcohol, we find an enormous burden is lifted and we begin to discover the freedom and the power we do possess – the power to define and live our own lives. Unmanageability lessens. We begin to see the paths to our own recovery" (p. 3-4).

We should not go through this alone. Spiritual accompaniment is the lifeblood of recovery and benefits all involved. Our first goal might be to seek a sponsor who has been through the Twelve Steps and values their recovery enough to know the importance of sharing the good news with others.

One's sponsor ought not be perfect, but, like John the Baptist was to many, can be a guidepost to Jesus by encouraging spiritual growth. In this Sunday's Gospel Reading, we hear a pivotal moment in the history of discipleship:

John the Baptist saw Jesus coming toward him and said,

"Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world.

*He is the one of whom I said,
'A man is coming after me who ranks ahead of me
because he existed before me.'*

*I did not know him,
but the reason why I came baptizing with water
was that he might be made known to Israel."*

John testified further, saying,

*"I saw the Spirit come down like a dove from heaven
and remain upon him.*

*I did not know him,
but the one who sent me to baptize with water told
me,*

*'On whomever you see the Spirit come down and remain,
he is the one who will baptize with the Holy Spirit.'
Now I have seen and testified that he is the Son of God."*

This line of mentorship and discipleship has been passed down throughout the ages. We are not asked to journey on our own, and can benefit from the aid of a close companion. In his book Introduction to the Devout Life, Saint Francis de Sales paints a poetic picture of what this relationship may look like:

“Have the greatest confidence in him, mingled with a holy reverence, yet so that the reverence diminish not your confidence, nor your confidence hinder in any way your reverence; confide in him with the respect of a daughter for her father and respect him with the confidence of a son in his mother: in a word, this friendship must be strong and sweet, altogether holy, sacred, divine, and spiritual" (p. 12).

The spiritual path we are on asks us to be resilient and to pick up our cross each day. When we travel this road with others, we find encouragement and perspective that we otherwise would not find ourselves. There is great value in connecting with those both ahead of us and behind us on the journey, recognizing that we are not far apart and much more similar than we might believe.

FYZW]cb Ei Yg]cbg

- What has helped you concede to your innermost self that you are powerless over addiction, compulsions, or unhealthy attachments?
- What benefits have you experienced as a result of working with a sponsor in recovery?
- Share about how you met your sponsor and began working together through the Twelve Steps.

New Digital Recovery Platform

Enroll in CIR+ today to access life-saving recovery resources and a host of benefits for CIR members

- Community forum to discuss topics related to addiction recovery and the Catholic Church
- Recovery Center including The Catholic in Recovery Workbook digital companion and other video modules
- Meeting reflections, books, and other helpful guides
- Discounts on the CIR store and CIR partners' services
- CIR Rosary Reflections to support your prayer life
- Enroll today at www.catholicinrecovery.com/cirplus

G bXUnA UggFYUX]b[gh]gK YY

First Reading: Isaiah 49:3, 5-6

Responsorial Psalm: Psalm 40:2, 4, 7-8, 8-9, 10

Second Reading: 1 Corinthians 1:1-3

Gospel: John 1:29-34